WOODEN BOATSHOP, We've Got You Covered!

For over 30 years the Wooden Boatshop (WBS) has been building and maintaining Coutu boats, launches and all manner of wooden boats at the purpose built facility spanning 2 ½ acres at Sorrento on the Mornington Peninsula. A fully equipped workshop on the Queenscliff marina further expands the capabilities of the business enabling the handling of larger vessels.

Recent building additions at Sorrento have included the construction of a full engineering and fabrication workshop set up for the building of tanks, machining of shafts and general fittings and a dedicated loft space for the manufacture and repair of covers.

The 42 square meter cover space is fitted with a walking foot straight stitch machine, hardware and materials ready to service the growing demand for marine covers on the Mornington and Bellarine Peninsulas.

The appointment of Peter Campbell has been a great addition to the WBS team. With over 20 years' experience in the marine cover trade Peter has demonstrated a strong skill set including all of the required knowledge to manufacture and install all types of covers, clears and marine upholstery.

“We are excited at the prospect of being able to offer reliable onsite service to all of our existing WBS customers here at Sorrento, making WBS truly a one stop shop. We are confident that the service will expand to servicing the Blairgowrie and Queenscliff Marinas and trailered craft that will be able to be delivered to WBS for fitting.”

Tim Phillips, WBS founder and Director.
